

We are delighted to welcome you to TILLI's Summer/Fall 2022 brochure! We want to first thank Judy Berkowitz and Larry Koff for all their work to keep TILLI going through COVID and expanding it to a year long program.

A busy varied summer program is ongoing for TILLI. The listing of events and calendar follows the fall study group in the brochure. The summer series engages TILLI members in addressing recent attacks on the democratic process with speakers, documentaries and voter postcard writing sessions at Temple Israel. In addition, we plan to gather for walking tours of Brookline and art on the Muddy River. In the fall, we are planning two virtual museum visits. The summer session is free, but you need to register on TILLI.org or email TILLI@tisrael.org.

Our aim is to bring our community together again at Temple Israel as much as possible. Fall has nine interesting study group choices with excellent Lunch and Learn speakers. We are looking forward to returning to Temple Israel for most study groups (subject to Temple Israel COVID policy). Coffee and lunches will be offered. Cost will return for the fall study groups to $75.00 for members and $100.00 for non-temple members. Please register on-line at TILLI.org.

TILLI is a peer-led community. Think about leading a study group! We need your input! What study groups and programs do you want?

Enjoy and learn with our wonderful community.

If you have any questions regarding TILLI, please contact Ann Abrams at TILLI@tisrael.org, 617-566-3960.

Temple Israel's Lifelong Learning Institute (TILLI) provides opportunities for Temple members and others to engage in peer-led, intellectually stimulating study groups covering a broad range of topics, to enjoy cultural events together, and to develop social relationships and a community.

Morning Study Groups

► Mindfulness and Movement (ONSITE OR ONLINE)

Susan Sachs (sachs.sm@gmail.com)

Participants will practice the fundamentals of mindfulness meditation and simple movement to improve mental and physical health. Study group activity will include movements sitting, standing, and walking. Modifications are offered so everyone can participate.

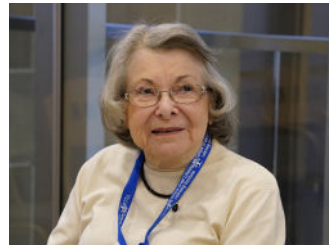

► The 1001 Sides of Apeirogon

Helen Kolsky (helen.kolsky@gmail.com)

An apeirogon is a polygon of infinite yet countable sides. This is an apt metaphor for McCann's brilliant novel and for the Israeli-Palestinian conflict which is central to it. The grief of two fathers, each from a different side of the conflict and who has each lost a daughter to the conflict, anchors the narrative.

The novel is structured around 1,001 'chapters,' passages of varying lengths as short as one sentence. These passages interrupt the narrative with unexpected juxtapositions of seemingly unrelated material while the reader is being lured into what McCann refers to as 'radical empathy' with the two fathers (who are real people, by the way). In this study group, we will explore the many facets of this unconventional and beautiful work through guided discussions with members' input. Adequate preparation to participate fully will require 2-3 hours per week plus time to read the novel before the first class.

Readings: Apeirogon, Colum McCann, $18.00 paperback from Penguin Random House, less from other sources.

Morning Study Groups

▶ Improving Your Photography

Michael Sandman (msandman1943@gmail.com)

The objective of this study group is to improve your photographic eye so you get better shots with your smartphone or digital camera. We will also practice the basics of editing photos on your devices. You can use the editing software that is included with Windows and Mac computers, or the editing capabilities of an iPhone or Android phone. If the class is interested, we will move on to Adobe Lightroom.

"I like the expanded program and that there were things for different tastes and interests."

— TILLI Participant

There's a short reading assignment before the first session, and you'll have a photo assignment for the sessions 2 through 6. Assignments will cover a variety of photo types – portrait, landscape, architecture, close-up/macro, flash, and possibly panoramas and high dynamic range (HDR), depending on your camera's functions.

Readings: The Photographer's Eye Remastered by Michael Freeman, 2017 edition, not the original version, which does not include "Remastered." Amazon has Freeman's book for $28.07 new, about $20.00 used, or $26.68 on Kindle.

▶ Shakespeare on Love: the tragedy of Romeo and Juliet and the comedy of A Midsummer Night's Dream

Bennett Simon (bennett_simon@hms.harvard.edu)

We will view "Shakespeare on Love" by immersing ourselves in Romeo and Juliet, tragedy, and A Midsummers Night's Dream, comedy. Perhaps the most performed of Shakespeare plays, they were written within the same year (1596). They both deal with young people in love defying the wishes and authority of their elders, and provide us with conflicting views about the nature of love — its "ingredients," its constancy, changeability, wonders, and perils. In class we will read scenes aloud, discuss the plays, and watch film clips. Preparation: about two hours per week of reading.

Readings: Any editions of the two plays with explanatory notes. Around $30 new, $20 used.

Need help obtaining a physical or e-book for your study group, to borrow or buy? Please contact Ann Abrams, who still wears the TI Librarian hat! (aabrams@tisrael.org)

Afternoon Study Groups

► Judaism Meets the Law

Carol Agate (carolagate@gmail.com)

This study group considers legal issues, past and current, involving Judaism, religious freedom, and the separation of church and state. We'll discuss issues arising over Jewish practices, court decisions involving Jews and Judaism, especially by the Supreme Court, Jewish Supreme Court justices, controversies over their appointment and the effect of their religion or ethnicity on their decisions, why so many Jews become lawyers, and other issues that interest the class. We won't avoid controversy, such as whether there is anti-Semitism among legislators. I'll aim for a balance of lecture and discussion.

Reading: Optional reading will be emailed.

"The selections have been informative and courageous. Many of our members were hungry for a perspective and/or clarification of the events that are taking place right now in USA. These presenters were well prepared, credible and committed to their causes. TILLI is well named because it provides intellectual stimulation to those members who want to keep thinking and evaluating all of what they see around them. That way they can pass on positive liberal factual and compassionate values to their descendants."

— TILLI Participant

► Making Decisions for the End of Life

Peter E. Goldberg, DMD (pgold1577@comcast.net)

As we age, inevitably we have concerns about our final years. How much agency do we wish to retain? What role should family play? What control do we want caregivers to have? Where would we like to be living? This study group will cover legal preparation, residential choices, family involvement, arrangements for terminal illness and dementia, and medical care settings like palliative care or hospice. Each session will be a combination of lecture and class discussion. About an hour a week of preparation time.

Reading: Being Mortal, Atul Gawande, $10.39 from Amazon
"The Conversation Project," available on-line

See Study Group Leader biographies on pages 16-17.

Afternoon Study Groups

▶ Contemporary Native American Poets

Judy Herman (judithherman@thehermans.org)

“I’m descended from a group whose culture history language gods cosmology calendar stories government was capital “O” Obliterated I’ll stop writing this when it stops happening.” This declaration, by the contemporary Native American poet, Tommy Pico, suggests something of the spirit of contemporary Native American poetry. A new generation is insisting, in poetry of startling power and beauty, that their culture and history be recognized. We will read work by such major Native American poets as Joy Harjo, current U.S. Poet Laureate, Layli Long Soldier, and Natalie Diaz (2018 Pulitzer-Prize winner and MacArthur Fellow), appreciating how, in poetry, these poets struggle to be recognized both as members of their tribal nations and as Americans, how, in poetry, they find a space for affirmation.

“Hot topics, varied interests,
all good presentations.”

— TILLI Participant

Preparation: 1.5 hours.

Reading: All course materials will be provided by the Study Group Leader. Participants must have access to the internet.

▶ Democracy Is on the November Ballot

Ruth Klepper (ruthklepper@icloud.com)

Will voters support democracy and stop the authoritarian trend before the 2024 presidential election? This study group will examine the dominant issues of the midterm elections: the consequences of the Supreme Court decisions, the impact of the Jan. 6 investigation, the 2020 census and gerrymandering, the economy and inflation, the Biden administration – successful or not, projected membership of the House and the Senate, and, finally, the election results. The study group format will include discussion and analysis of current news from varied sources.

Reading: Primary sources will be from The Atlantic, New York Times, Washington Post, and suggestions by class members. Readings will be distributed in class or by email. Computer access required.

Afternoon Study Groups

► A Survey of Soviet-Jewish History

Joshua Rubenstein (rubenstein.joshua@gmail.com)

Under Bolshevik rule in the Soviet Union from 1917 to the Second World War, Jews, most notably Leon Trotsky, helped to lead the Soviet government while others assumed important roles in culture and industry. During World War II, the occupying Germans murdered as many as 2.5 million Jews. After the war, Stalin turned on the Jews, suspicious of their enthusiasm for Israel. The Six-Day War in 1967 provoked such a surge of Jewish national feeling that hundreds of thousands of Soviet Jews demanded to leave for Israel. We will discuss the life of Leon Trotsky; the career of the writer Ilya Ehrenburg; the Holocaust in German-occupied Soviet territory; the Jewish Emigration Movement and Russian Jews today.

“Great information,
both enlightening
and enriching”
— TILLI Participant

Reading: Leon Trotsky: A Revolutionary's Life, $16 paperback; Tangled Loyalties: The Life and Times of Ilya Ehrenburg, $5 – both by Joshua Rubenstein. Other material will be made available via photocopies, along with a bibliography for the participants' own enrichment. Regarding my book, Tangled Loyalties, I have a large number of copies, both hardcover and paperback. I would be happy to offer copies to participants for the nominal fee of $5.

WHERE DOES DEMOCRACY GO FROM HERE? – GETTING TO EQUITY

This summer series engages TILLI members in addressing recent attacks on the democratic process. The struggle to vote and to making every vote count is central to what happens both at the local and national levels. Yet, we watch as state legislatures alter voting rules and redistrict their state maps to further restrict access to voting. Where does democracy go from here?

Most of the events will be presented on Zoom and at least two will require your assistance and presence.

ZOOM this summer from wherever you are!
Plan to attend the in person events!

All events are free and begin at 11:00 a.m.

JUNE 2, 11:00 a.m. (ONLINE ON ZOOM)

Amend: The Fight for America* (Netflix) Episode 1

Moderator: Ruth Klepper

What is the ongoing significance of the 14th Amendment? This is the first in this made-for-television series and tells the story of the adoption of the 14th Amendment and the subsequent struggle to live up to the promise of its words. The heart of the 14th Amendment is the definition of citizenship. All citizens have rights and the protection of the law. Prior to the adoption of the 14th Amendment, only White men had any rights.

This amendment is pivotal for establishing equal protection in this country.

This film has important content and is meant to entertain along the way.

14th Amendment

...nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

TILLI SUMMER SESSION 2022

JUNE 9, 11:00 a.m. (ONLINE ON ZOOM)

Politics and Gerrymandering Right Here in Massachusetts with Jordan Berg Powers - Executive Director of MassAlliance

Moderator: Sandy Wixted

Jordan Berg Powers (he/him) has served as Executive Director of MassAlliance for over a decade. He has helped elect new progressive leaders across the state, recruited progressive champions to run, and trained hundreds of grassroots organizers. Using his expertise in talking to ordinary voters about progressive policy, Jordan is active in campaigns for saving public education, environmental justice, and a more progressive tax system for the Commonwealth. He conducts training across the state on understanding government, advocating, grassroots campaigning, messaging, and political power. In 2015 Jordan was recognized for his exceptional work in politics as an inaugural inductee into the 40 Under 40 Poly Award.

In his free time, Jordan serves on the boards of JOIN for Justice, MassBudget, and the Jewish Liberation Fund. He is on the advisory committee for the Jewish Alliance for Law and Social Action (JALSA). In 2018 Jordan was honored to be a part of the JewV’Nation Fellowship—a leadership development program for visionary Jewish leaders across North America. This nine-month fellowship supports 10-16 Jewish leaders ages 18 to 118 through professional/leadership development, networking opportunities, and training aimed at expanding the field of Jewish leaders. Jordan has a Masters in International Politics from the London School of Oriental & African Studies as well as a B.A. in International Development and a B.A. in Economics from American University.

JUNE 23, 11:00 a.m. (ONLINE ON ZOOM)

Slay the Dragon (2019), Documentary Film, 60-90 minutes

Moderator: Sandy Wixted

This documentary highlights Flint, Michigan where the legislature appointed a receiver as the city manager. The film does a skillful job distilling the complicated history of how gerrymandering flips statehouses and follows a grassroots activist, Katie Foley, as she pushes for a ballot measure that in 2018 gave redistricting authority to an independent commission.

VOTING Action Event I

Led by Sandy Wixted

Meet at TI and in assembly line fashion prepare about 500 postcards (or letters) for mailing to a voter suppression state with a critical primary and election leading up to mid-term elections.

AUGUST 18, 11:00 a.m. (ONLINE ON ZOOM)

How Did We Get Here? The Struggle to Vote— Karen Levit, National Civil Rights Counsel for the Anti-Defamation League

Moderator: Natalie Schatz

“The freedom to vote is affected by a wide array of laws and court rulings – some lesser known than others.

This overview of federal legislation and Supreme Court rulings will shed light on how we got here, recent developments at the Supreme Court, and current efforts to pass national election standards and combat state attacks on our freedom to vote.”

Karen Levit (she/her) serves as National Civil Rights Counsel for the ADL (Anti-Defamation League). She advocates on a range of civil rights issues including voting rights, immigrant and refugee rights, and LGBTQ+ rights, and advises ADL’s regional, state, and federal engagement on civil rights issues. Previously, she represented young people in Family Court proceedings as a staff attorney with the Legal Aid Society of New York. She has published work in Above the Law and The Guardian, the quarterly law journal of the National Association of Counsel for Children. Karen earned her J.D. from the University of Pennsylvania Carey Law School. She earned her B.A. from the City College of New York magna cum laude, where she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

VIRTUAL MUSEUM TRIPS, WALKS AND A REDI CONVERSATION

June 16, 11:00 a.m. (ONLINE ON ZOOM)

In The Shadow of Monet: Giverny and American Impressionism, Columbia Museum of Art in South Carolina

Led by museum docent

In 1883, French Impressionist painter Claude Monet settled in Giverny, a village nestled at the confluence of the Seine and Epte rivers.

Glimpses of the new, still-radical Impressionist style inspired American artists who traveled to Giverny and home again for four decades at the turn of the 20th century, transforming the American art scene. This exhibition features over 50 artists, including Giverny Colony founders Willard Metcalf and Louis Ritter, as well as Richard Edward Miller, Lilla Cabot Perry, John Singer Sargent, Mary Fairchild MacMonnies, and Guy Rose.

(From Columbia Museum of Art website)

JULY 14, 11:00 a.m. (ONSITE)

The Ground We Walk at Studio Without Walls, An Art Walk along the Muddy River at Riverway Park, Brookline

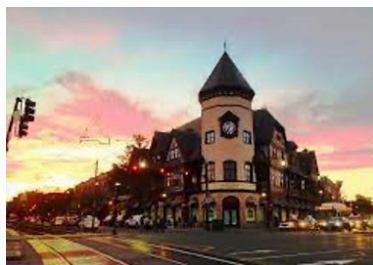

Rain Date: July TBA. After the Art Walk, return to Temple Israel for a bag lunch.

Cost: $15@ for the bag lunch.

Led by an artist/docent the exhibit features sixteen sculptures by 20+ artists. (near the Longwood T stop on Chapel Street).

SEPTEMBER 1, 11:00 a.m. (ONSITE)
Synagogues, Stores, and Community:
The Early Development and Growth of Jewish Brookline (A ninety minute walking tour)

Led by Ken Liss, President of the Brookline Historical Society

TILLI SUMMER SESSION 2022

We will convene at the corner of Beacon and Kent streets.

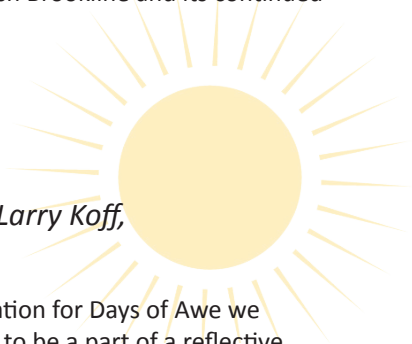

Rain date: September 15

The first half of the 20th century saw dramatic growth in the Jewish population of Brookline and in the institutions, businesses, and activities that helped make the town a center of Jewish life in the Boston area. A walking tour led by Brookline Historical Society president Ken Liss tells the story—through places, people, and events—of the emergence of Jewish Brookline and its continued growth over subsequent decades.

SEPTEMBER 22, 11:00 a.m.
(ONLINE ON ZOOM)

TILLI's REDI Conversation

Led by TILLI members Ted Greenwood, Larry Koff, and Judy Berkowitz

In preparation for Days of Awe we invite you to be a part of a reflective conversation about how we individually and as a group move toward equity, inclusion and the full embrace of diversity in the Temple Israel community. How do we ensure that Jewish people of all races and backgrounds and who may observe different Jewish customs feel belonging in our midst?

OCTOBER 6, 11:00 a.m. (ONLINE ON ZOOM)

Walker Art Center, Minneapolis, Minnesota

View a photography exhibit by Laotian photographer Pao Houa Her. The pictures are a narrative of family memories fleeing Laos and ethnic Hmong communities formed in late 1970,s and '80's following the VietNam War. The exhibit explores themes of migration, displacement, resilience and longing.

Fall Study Group Leaders

Carol Agate (Judaism and the Law) practiced law in California and served on the ACLU Los Angeles Chapter advisory board. She worked in both criminal and civil law, and later served as an administrative law judge. One First Amendment case went to the Supreme Court.

Peter Goldberg (Making Decisions at the End of Life) was a practicing dentist in Brookline who saw many hospitalized patients. He has been a hospice volunteer for over five years at Hebrew Senior Life Hospice at Newbridge. These experiences, as well as those with family members, have convinced him of how important it is to make explicit choices.

Judy Herman (Native American Poets) has a doctorate in English and American literature and has taught in universities in the United States and France. Her poems have been published widely. She has taught 3 study groups for TILLI, with a focus on poetry.

Study Group Leaders

Ruth Klepper (Democracy Is on the November Ballot) holds a BA from New York University and did graduate study in education at University at Albany. She was a Planned Parenthood executive director, a candidate for NYS Senate, and a lobbyist for Interfaith Impact of NYS. She is a 14-year docent at the JFK Library. She has led TILLI study groups on politics, philosophy, memoir writing, and the media. She is a former TILLI co-chair.

Helen Kolsky (The 1001 Sides of Apeirogon) received a B.A. in English and American Literature from Brandeis University and an M.A. in Communications from The New School University. She taught English at the secondary and college level. This is her second TILLI study group to focus on Palestinian voices. She and Ted Greenwood taught a class on this topic in the TI Center for Adult Jewish Learning (CAJL) this past fall.

Joshua Rubenstein (Soviet-Jewish History) is the author or editor of a number of books on Soviet and Soviet-Jewish history. He has been professionally involved with human rights and international affairs for over forty years at Amnesty International and has been an Associate at Harvard's Davis Center for Russian and Eurasian Studies since 1984.

Michael Sandman (Improving Your Photography) has taught photography classes for TILLI and for Brandeis's BOLLI program. He has won numerous Boston Camera Club awards and his photographs have been widely featured.

Susan Sachs (Mindfulness and Movement) has practiced dance, movement, yoga and pilates for many years.

Bennett Simon (Shakespeare on Love) is a retired psychiatrist and psychoanalyst with a lifelong interest in drama, especially Greek tragedy and Shakespeare. At Harvard, he taught "Tragic Drama and Human Conflict" for some twenty years. He is also a consumer and provider of good jokes.
